About Me

I am Rafael, an undergraduate student at UFSJ (Universidade de São João Del Rei) pursuing a degree in Economics. In February 2022, I embarked on a new academic journey by delving into the world of programming. For nine months, I worked with an ambitious startup in Computer Science, collaborating with talented individuals. Recently, I have shifted my focus towards web development.

With nearly a year of dedicated web development studies under my belt, I am starting to feel confident in my abilities. Although my English fluency is a work in progress, I am committed to rapid improvement, especially through collaboration with English-speaking colleagues.

At this point, my main priority is continuous learning rather than a specific salary expectation. Consequently, I am open to considering any opportunity that allows me to acquire further knowledge and skills.

Here a list of my stack skills:

- Javascript + Typescript
- React
- Mongodb
- Api Rest + GraphQL
- Node
- Puppeteer
- Spline 3d design
- Tailwind

As I write this resume, I am currently working on a personal e-commerce project focused on t-shirts, where I am learning Next.js.

Thank you for considering my application.

Best regards, Rafael Lourenço
